Senior Spotlight

Hunter Anderson

Son of Darvin and April Anderson

Hunter feels that his parents and Pastor Matt Maloyed have been a great influence in his life.

They have always been there for him and helped him through his struggles.

He feels that all of his teachers have been good mentors to him.

A few favorites:

Spanish class, chicken fajitas and tacos, basketball, Honduras, authors, Alex and Brett Harris. Hunter has played a little bit of trumpet and drum.

Favorite saying:

“Everything is better with gravy!”

His wise piece of advice:

You’re never too young to start doing something for God.

He has a call to become a pastor.

Within the next ten years he would like to get married!
